

Prof. Driss ALAOUI MDAGHRI

Institute for Advanced Studies

EDUCATION

PROF. Driss Alaoui Mdaghri holds a Doctorate of State in Law from the University of Nice and a Diploma of Higher Studies in Sociology from Mohammed V University. His academic background reflects his interdisciplinary approach, blending legal expertise with sociological insights.

HONORS AND DECORATIONS

Prof. Driss Alaoui Mdaghri's contributions to society have been recognized with prestigious honors, including the Ouissam Al Arch and the Legion of Honor. These decorations reflect his significant impact and service to his country and beyond.

RESIDENCY PERIOD

From 8th January to 8th October 2024.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Minister of Communication and Government Spokesperson (1995-1998)
- Minister of Youth and Sports (1993-1995)
- Minister of Energy and Mines (1990-1993)
- Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in charge of the Arab Maghreb Union (1989-1990)

Prof. Driss Alaoui Mdaghri, a prominent figure in Moroccan society, is renowned as a scholar, former minister, author, columnist, and speaker. His multifaceted career spans various fields, including education, public management, entrepreneurship, art, and culture. Throughout his professional journey, he has made significant contributions to academia, public service, and cultural initiatives, demonstrating a commitment to advancing knowledge and fostering societal development.